Homeless Prevention (for Community Partners)

CIG focuses on assisting adults into a more permanent and stable lifestyle. While in one of our programs, adults will work with counselors on building their life to once again become independent. Our team will work with clients to help them find stable employment, housing, and will help to prepare them to live independently by also working on things such as grocery shopping, budgeting, and medication management. CIG services are designed to provide educational, developmental, and psychological support to help unhoused or homeless adults to become self-sufficient.
